

Hey Guys!

A few months ago an employee was caught pocketing money during a SmartAUDIT. With this undeniable proof, I fired the employee. He recently filed for unemployment due to wrongful termination. Due to the poor economy, in my opinion, more and more employees are winning these cases even if the employers have adequate proof against them. I was losing the case against this employee when all of a sudden I remembered the SmartAUDIT. I immediately faxed the report to the judge and won the case! Thanks DTT!
